DOUGIE FREEDMAN

Good afternoon everyone and welcome back to the Reebok Stadium for this afternoon's league match against Millwall.

Our trip to Bournemouth last weekend was a long one, but our preparation and game-plan proved to be successful. I thought we turned in a thoroughly solid and professional performance against a Bournemouth team that can be very lively and useful on their own patch.

Our away form since the middle of September has been excellent with two wins and a draw, all of which were thoroughly deserved. We now have to transfer those qualities to our home performances.

We have drawn far too many games at home, most of which we could and should have won and we need to turn those draws into wins sooner rather than later.

The performances have merited wins in most cases. We have looked good going forward whilst limiting the opposition to very few chances in front of goal. We of course now need to notch that first home win. Hopefully last weekend's result and performance, as well as the support of you, the fans, can help us cross that barrier.

I'd like to welcome the players, staff, supporters and officials of Millwall Football Club. They have had a mixed start to the season, but have shown that they are capable of picking up results of late. It tells you that on their day they can be a threat.

As a team they have experienced the extremes of results. Today we must make sure that they are on the receiving end, but like all games in this league everyone needs to be on their game. Our application, concentration and hard work must be present in order for the quality to shine through.

Finally, it is obviously a poignant day in football as we all come together to remember the armed forces who fought so bravely in the war. Sometimes it is easy to forget how privileged we are to be surrounded by our loved ones on a daily basis.

Enjoy the game.

ZATKNIGHT

Good afternoon everyone and welcome to the Reebok Stadium for today's game against Millwall.

Heading into the match all of the lads are upbeat and in good spirits. We feel that this little run we are currently on has been on the cards for the last few weeks now.

Of course there's still some frustration given the amount of draws we've had, but we've got to now make sure that we're winning games.

The mood is certainly better now. We know we haven't started the season well and you can't help but look at the league table. There's obviously a bit of a gap between ourselves and where we want to be, but we showed last season that we're capable of going on a run and catapulting ourselves up the table. The key thing is that we don't leave it until the very last minute - we've got to be looking at going on a run now.

On occasions in the past I've played with players who don't have any interest in the sport outside of their own training and matches, but that's certainly a rarity. The majority of players will watch football on a regular basis on television. From seeing a lot of games this season, all of the boys are watching on and we're thinking that there really isn't much between any two teams on any given day.

Within five or six games we believe we can get right up there. Of course it is easy enough to say it, but we've got to put that plan into action.

We find ourselves in a position again this afternoon where we know Millwall will make things hard for us. When teams come visiting the Reebok Stadium they look around and see the top class facilities and look forward to rubbing shoulders with us. We're still a big scalp for teams in this league and we have to learn to deal with that.

Just looking back to the Bournemouth game, it was an all-round pleasing afternoon. It was a great feeling when that second goal went in and to celebrate in front of the travelling fans was amazing - it is one of the best feelings in football.

Our fans were great and anyone who was there would have seen the huge outpouring of emotion. I was fortunate enough to get chatting to a few of the fans in the hotel on the morning of the game - all of the boys know how much it means to them.

Hopefully those who made the journey down to Bournemouth enjoyed the three points!

We now need teams to come to the Reebok and not only have to worry about facing us players, but our fans as well. In the past the Reebok has been a difficult place for teams to come and play. Hopefully today can be the real kick-start we need to turn our home form around.

Once again, on behalf of all the lads, thanks for your support.

Sanmi Odelusi talks to the official programme about his early career, his Bolton debut and how the Wanderers faithful are yet to see his full potential.

SANMI ODELUSI

ONE ON ONE

WITH SANMI ODELUSI

Oluwasanmi Babafemi Oluwaseun Odelusi – better known as Sanmi – is a young man who is more than ready to prove his worth at the Reebok Stadium.

A name which means that God has rewarded him, not many would disagree with that statement given his recent introduction into the first team fold.

Having risen up through the Wanderers' ranks since his arrival at the club's academy in 2009, the forward recently signed a contract extension which will see him remain in the North West until at least the summer of 2016.

A dream come true for the London-born youngster, Odelusi has undoubtedly announced his arrival to the Bolton faithful this season – namely with his brace against Shrewsbury Town in the first round of the Capital One Cup back in August.

Speaking exclusively to the match day programme, the 20-year-old admitted that the opportunity that has been handed to him with the Whites is one which he is certainly not taking for granted.

"I'm delighted to have signed a new deal," he said. "It's now time for me to get my head down and continue to work hard - I want to be pushing for more first team appearances.

"Hopefully I'll get my chance because I want to show people how much it means for me to be here.

"Since the manager and his staff came in I feel they have helped to develop my game both on and off the pitch and long may that continue."

Born and raised in Dagenham, Odelusi began his affiliation with the game as a six-year-old by playing football with his father at his local park.

His talent on the ball was clear to see from the outset, with the youngster joining Dagenham based side Ascot United shortly after.

His time with the club was a successful one, with Odelusi even understanding at a young age the importance of giving his all in a bid to get to the top.

"I really enjoyed playing for Ascot," he explained. "I was there until I was 11 and it really proved to me how much I wanted to make it to the very top.

"Ever since then, I have always had the determination to do my best and become a professional footballer."

Following his time with Ascot, Odelusi continued to develop his playing ability with stints at a number of local Sunday League sides, all of which accumulated in a trial with Queens Park Rangers when he was just 15 years old – something which he openly admitted came as a complete surprise.

"It was amazing when QPR asked me to come on trial – as hard as I was working and as much as I wanted to get there, I never thought I would get that type of opportunity.

"I was there for six months and thought I'd done enough, but unfortunately they decided to let me go.

"It was hard to take that kind of rejection, but I stayed positive and took it on the chin."

Naturally disappointed at failing to secure a place in Rangers' youth set-up, little did Odelusi know that fate was about to hand him a lifeline in the shape of Bolton Wanderers.

"It was down to luck that I got a second chance," he conceded. "I was playing at a showcase game down in London, and there just so happened to be a scout from Bolton there.

"He liked what he saw, and gave me the opportunity to prove myself by asking me to come up to Bolton for a trial and the rest is history.

"It's all about taking any opportunity that you get – I did and that's why I find myself where I am today. It's solid proof that hard work eventually pays off."

He added: "Everything wasn't as straightforward as we would have liked and it took a while to get all the necessary stuff sorted, but when it was done I was over the moon."

A dream move for the youngster, it was ultimately one which would come at a price as Odelusi was forced to leave behind his beloved home city and move into digs 200 miles away.

Admittedly a factor that took its toll on him initially, it is one which he believes was crucial in his development both as a footballer and as a young adult.

"I was only 15 when I left London and it was very hard at first for me to settle in – I'd been so used to the hectic surroundings in London and the fact that it is a unique place in itself.

"After I'd gotten over the initial shock of moving, it got easier. Having moved away from that life, I actually feel a lot more relaxed living up here – it has got me focused on what I am doing now and where I want to be in the future."

Following his transfer, Odelusi vindicated Wanderers' decision to bring him to the club with a number of impressive performances – ones which ultimately led to him being fast-tracked into the Whites' Under 21 side shortly after his arrival and handed his professional contract in the summer of 2012.

Going on to become a virtual ever present for Bolton's second string, many wondered how long it would be before the versatile frontman made his bow in the first team.

That question however was to be answered in March of this year, with Odelusi replacing Darren Pratley for the final eight minutes of Wanderers' 3-2 defeat against Charlton at The Valley.

His cameo appearance certainly set tongues wagging amongst the Bolton faithful, with the Londoner going on to make the most emphatic of full debuts against the Shrews back in August with goals either side of half time in a 3-1 Bolton win. A proud moment for Odelusi and his family, the winger admitted that although his trip to Greenhous Meadow is one which he will never forget, he will certainly not dwell on it either.

"It was just an incredible feeling," he said. "Obviously signing my professional contract is up there as one of my highlights so far, but not a lot will beat scoring my first two goals for Bolton.

"As amazing as it was though, I have to keep moving on, remaining focused and hopefully the next opportunity I get, I can show everyone what I can do all over again."

Having been handed his chance to shine by manager Dougie Freedman, the young playmaker confessed that he appreciates everything that the Bolton boss has done for him.

"The gaffer has shown faith in me which is fantastic – he's really good at encouraging us as players and he is there for you more than anything.

"Alongside all that though, he is a friend and was a great player who scored lots of goals during his career, so I'm grateful to get the opportunity to work alongside him."

Having plied his trade with the younger members of the club for such a length of time, Odelusi explained that the chance to work alongside the more experienced players at the club is something that will only add to his game in the coming months.

"Of course, the step up to the first team was a bit of a shock, but I soon got used to it because I am just so grateful to have my opportunity to be involved with them," he said.

"The main thing for me is to keep on working hard and keep giving it my all in every training session.

"There are so many great players at the club that I look up to – we have the likes of Chris Eagles who has played in the Premier League and other attack minded players like myself such as Chung-Yong Lee and Jermaine Beckford.

"When you're young, you cannot beat learning from those who have already experienced what you have and I can do that so much here.

"It's been such an exciting journey at Bolton Wanderers over the past few years, but there are definitely plenty more things to come.

"Like anything, there are going to be up and downs, but it is the way you handle different scenarios and situation that make you as a person and you move forward from there."

PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Jay Spearing picked up the prestigious North West Championship Player of the Year award for 2013 at a star studded ceremony in Manchester on Monday night.

The 24-year-old was on hand to receive the accolade at the Lancashire County Cricket Club at Old Trafford, beating Blackpool's Thomas Ince and Blackburn's Jordan Rhodes to the title.

Spearing claimed the regional gong for his performances for Bolton throughout the calendar year, with the tenacious midfielder securing the club's own Player of the Year award in the 2012/13 campaign.

Originally joining the club on a season long loan in the summer of 2012, Spearing impressed in a Wanderers shirt before manager Dougie Freedman swooped to make the move permanent in August of this year, with him having featured in every minute of league action since.

Speaking following the ceremony, Bolton's number six said: "I am very proud to accept the award and want to say a big thank you to the fans who voted for me.

"It was definitely a bit of a shock to win, but I'm so pleased to have done so and it's something that I'm incredibly grateful for.

"The number of quality players that were nominated for awards shows how much talent we have in the North West and they all deserve the praise that they're getting."

A number of Jay's former Liverpool teammates were present at the event, with the likes of Jamie Carragher, John Welsh and Neil Mellor all paying tribute to the Wanderers' star following the ceremony.

Having been playing for the Reds during Spearing's time in the club's youth academy, Mellor admitted that it was clear to see from the outset that the Liverpoolian was destined for great things.

"Many congratulations to Jay - it is a fantastic achievement to win that award and he beat a lot of players that performed extremely well," said the former Preston and Sheffield Wednesday striker.

"Jordan Rhodes scored a lot of goals at Blackburn Rovers and Tom Ince is an exciting young player at Blackpool, so for Jay to win is fantastic.

"It is great to see him get recognised for his performances - I remember Jay being a very good young player from our days at Liverpool together."

He added: "Jay is now a Bolton Wanderers player and he has been fantastic since his arrival on loan last year and I know he is looking to take Bolton back to the Premier League."

COMMUNITY INITIATIVE OF THE YEAR

Bolton Wanderers Community Trust picked up the North West Football Awards' Community Initiative of the Year accolade at a star-studded event held in Manchester earlier this week.

An award secured for the Trust's Wanderers Hearts and Goals campaign, Bolton fought off competition from a number of clubs to secure the award on a night which also saw Jay Sparring named as the Championship Player of the Year.

Launched in October 2012, the scheme itself aims to prevent Sudden Cardiac Arrest deaths by raising awareness of the condition, offering emergency lifesaving skills to schools, workforces and community groups as well as raising funds to position Automated External Defibrillators in public places throughout the North West.

A project which works alongside a number of key partners within the local community such as the North West Ambulance Service, the British Heart Foundation, Bolton ICD Support Group and the Arrhythmia Alliance, Wanderers Hearts and Goals looks set to go from strength to strength over the coming years.

With over 100,000 deaths in the UK caused by the condition each year, the initiative's main aim is to decrease that number as awareness grows.

Speaking following the awards ceremony, Ben Lawton, the Community Trust's Head of Strategy and Development admitted his delight at the recognition for the club's hard work over the past twelve months.

"We are extremely proud to be recognised for the Community Initiative of the Year Award," he said. "It is great to be honoured for the fantastic work that goes on in Bolton.

"Wanderers Hearts and Goals is a project that is close to all our hearts, especially with what happened to Fabrice Muamba and we are very passionate about educating the wider community on Sudden Cardiac Arrest as well as placing more public access defibrillators within the community."

A project which may still be in its infancy, the club's Community Trust has already been honoured back in June of this year when they were awarded a Gold Standard award for their community work and their determination to raise awareness of SCA.

There has already been a real success story of the campaign, with Bolton Wanderers supporter Derek Smith suffering a heart attack during the Whites' game against Blackpool at the Reebok Stadium last season.

Luckily for the elderly gentleman however, an off-duty nurse was on hand to give him CPR and a nearby defibrillator was rushed to the scene – actions which ultimately saved Mr Smith's life.

NEWS BOARD

UNDER 21 FIXTURE CONFIRMED

Date and venue confirmed for clash with the Tykes
Wanderers' Under 21 side will play Barnsley in the U21 Premier League Cup (Round of 32) on Tuesday
19 November 2013.

The game will be played at The County Ground, Leyland and will kick off at 7pm.

Midfielder wins club's monthly award

Bolton Wanderers supporters have voted Medo Kamara's strike against Ipswich Town as the club's goal of the month for October.

The midfielder fired home a free-kick from just outside the penalty area with 65 minutes gone to hand Wanderers the lead against the Tractor Boys, with the game eventually finishing all square as David McGoldrick equalised shortly after.

Jermaine Beckford's goal against Sheffield Wednesday finished narrowly behind in second place, with Jamie Thomas' goal for the Under 18s against Everton securing third place.

REF WATCH

Graham Scott will officiate this afternoon's clash with Millwall.

Based in Oxfordshire, Scott has refereed 10 games so far this season across the Championship, League One and League Two.

An experienced official having been involved professionally in the game since 2008, his last outing was Brentford's 1-0 victory over Crawley Town last Saturday.

Having dished out 30 yellow and five red cards during the current campaign, Scott last took charge of a Bolton match back in August 2012 when the Whites were defeated 2-1 by Crawley in the Capital One Cup.

David Benton and Nigel Murphy will run the line, while Mark Duncan is the fourth official.

WORLD CUP

The Fijian rugby league World Cup team departed the Bolton Whites Hotel on Thursday following three weeks in North West, with captain Petero Civoniceva admitting that their stay is one which they will never forget.

Having faced Ireland and Australia at Rochdale's Spotland Stadium and St Helens' Langtree Park respectively in their opening two group games, the team arrived in Bolton on October 19 to a rousing reception and were based in the hotel for the duration of their visit alongside using the club's training facilities.

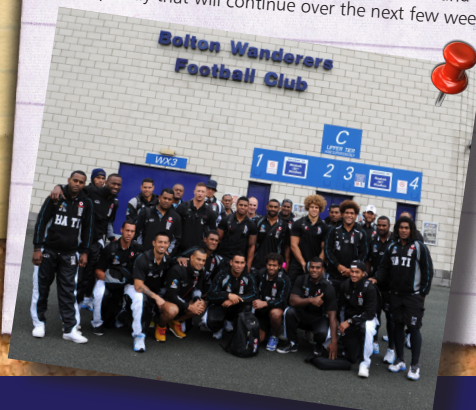

Speaking prior to their departure, Civoniceva explained that the team were disappointed to leave BL6, but they will take away a number of memories from their time here.

"We've been blown away by the hospitality of everyone that works at the hotel and the club - they've always been around with a friendly smile and we feel very privileged to have stayed at a great venue like Bolton Whites Hotel," he said.

"We were so fortunate to come to the Bolton game against Ipswich Town and the guys were blown away by the atmosphere and I know that there's already a couple of Bolton shirts going back to Australia and Fiji."

He added: "To get the opportunity to sing on the pitch too was unbelievable - it just really completes the whole experience with how fortunate we've been over the past few weeks.

"For a team like Fiji to come to the North of England and have everyone get behind us means a lot - it's certainly helped us produce our best football and hopefully that will continue over the next few weeks."

NEIL DANN'S FANS PLAYED THEIR PART

Neil Danns admitted that confidence is high amongst the Bolton team following the Whites' 2-0 win at Bournemouth last weekend, explaining that the support shown by the fans of late has been invaluable.

"It's a fantastic opportunity against Millwall this afternoon," he said. "We'll be going into the game with confidence off the back of the result at Bournemouth.

"Hopefully we can perform on the day and give the home fans something to cheer about.

"We will no doubt give 100% and hopefully that will be enough to get us another three points and our first win at the Reebok Stadium."

With almost 1000 supporters making the trip to the south coast last Saturday, Danns confessed that the atmosphere created by the fans at the Goldsands Stadium was something that was not wasted on the players.

"When I came out, I couldn't believe how many people were in the away end knowing how long they'd travelled to get there and that's a testament to the fans because they've got right behind us.

"We were just really thankful that we sent them home with a smile on their faces and a great result because they were unbelievable and it was that extra kick that we needed to get all three points."

He added: "It was a great win to get under our belts – Bournemouth are a good side and they play some great football.

"We went there though and set up with the right tactics and the gaffer had us all knowing what we had to do in order to get a result out of this game and thankfully for us, we've got it."

The midfielder also paid tribute to Wanderers' striking duo of Jermaine Beckford and David Ngog following the clash with the Cherries, stating that the quality of the pair was ultimately the difference against the Championship newcomers on the day.

"They were both brilliant. Jermaine has been in the goals of late – I've played with him for a number of years and I know that he's got those goals in him.

"David did really well too – he has come back into the team lately and given us another boost and he's worked his socks off and got a deserved goal.

"We had a game plan which was obviously to sit off them, let them play in front of us because they weren't hurting us and keep our team shape because we'd catch them on the counter attack.

"The plan worked perfectly because we caught them on the counter attack twice and it was two great finishes by the strikers.

"All that hard work and discipline in a defensive set-up paid off – hopefully we can replicate that in every game."

Wanderers 1-3 Fulham

Wanderers' Under 21 side suffered their first league home defeat of the season with a 3-1 reverse at the hands of Fulham at the County Ground.

Following a first half of few chances, the visitors hit the Whites with a brace from Moussa Dembele and a goal from Mesca Tue Na Bangna to ensure that they made the trip back to the capital with all three points.

Georg Iliev did grab a consolation for the hosts late on, but it was ultimately a case of too little too late.

After a fairly evenly contested start to proceedings, Dembele ensured that Arran Lee-Barrett was on his guard with a smartly taken shot from just inside the area in the tenth minute, but the keeper did well to deny him.

The tempo of the game appeared to drop somewhat as the half wore on, with chances at a premium for both sides.

With a lack of opportunities throughout the first period, Fulham almost snatched the lead on the stroke of half time as Tom Richards fired goalbound, but Andy Kellett was on hand to clear the ball to safety and keep the scores level at the break.

It was clear to see straight after the restart that both sides had emerged from the dressing room with a renewed sense of vigour, with Lasse Vigen Christensen's shot deflecting just over the crossbar inside two minutes of the second half.

Given the rampant start to the second half a goal seemed to be imminent, and it was to be the visitors who would break the deadline in the 54th minute as Mesca headed the ball across the face of goal to allow an unmarked Dembele to head home from close range.

With the Whites on the hunt for an equaliser however, the Cottagers were to hit them with a sucker punch as Mesca curled the ball home from just outside the area to double his side's advantage.

A scoreline which was undoubtedly cruel on Wanderers, it was to get worse just five minutes later as Dembele connected with Joshua Passley's ball and calmly fired past Lee-Barrett in the Bolton goal.

Muamer Tankovic nearly added to the Cottagers' tally with ten minutes left on the clock as he unleashed a shot on goal, but Robert Holding was on hand to block the ball and keep the scoreline at three.

With confidence seemingly high amongst the Fulham team, the visitors enjoyed a number of opportunities to extend their lead as the game drew to its conclusion.

Wanderers weren't to be denied altogether though, with Iliev snatching a consolation for the hosts with just three minutes to go as he tapped the ball home from a matter of yards out.

Next up for the Under 21s is a trip to Gigg Lane in the Manchester FA Senior Challenge Cup against Bury next Tuesday, kick off 1pm.

Bolton: Lee-Barrett, White, Kellett, Threlkeld, Holding, Kelly (Woodland, 61), Matthews (Abbotts, 69), Gregus, Iliev, Clough, Young

UNDER18s

LEICESTER 3-1 WANDERERS

Wanderers' Under 18 side suffered a 3-1 reverse at the hands of Leicester City last weekend.

The Foxes had experienced a similar start to the Whites during the opening months of the season, but the hosts were to start the brighter of the two sides with a goal from Ben Chilwell inside four minutes of the clash.

With an early lead under their belts, Leicester were to hit Wanderers with a sucker-punch shortly after as Simonas Stankevicius doubled their advantage.

Not to be deterred however, the Whites enjoyed a number of opportunities to pull themselves back into the clash as Tom Walker hit the post with a free-kick and Jamie Thomas being adjudged to have been offside as he fired home the rebound.

Bolton's determination was clear to see, and their hard work was rewarded in the 65th minute as Carl Kennedy connected with Walker's corner to half the deficit.

A late rally saw Wanderers go close to snatching what would have been a deserved equaliser, but the Foxes hit them on the counter-attack through Stankevicius again to put the result beyond doubt.

Speaking following the final whistle, coach David Lee admitted his disappointment that his side had been forced to leave Belvoir Drive empty handed.

"We weren't good enough in the first half, but we were the better side in the second and deserved something out of the game," he explained. "There were a lot of positives that we can take away though and one or two great individual performances.

"We'll pick ourselves up and will be ready to go a gain in our next game."

The club's young guns were in action earlier today against Newcastle United at their Lostock training ground, with a full match report of the game being available at www.bwfc.co.uk.

CHAPLAIN'S VIEW

BEYOND THE 90

LEST WE FORGET

Club Chaplain Phil Mason explains in his latest column why it is important to support the Help for Heroes campaign ahead of Remembrance Sunday.

A few weeks ago I conducted the funeral of Mr James McDonald who during his life had served his country during the Second World War in the Lancashire Fusiliers.

He had been in service in Burma, Dunkirk and India. Jim was a passionate football fan and loved to play the game.

Whilst stationed in the North East of England he was challenged by a colleague of another regiment to get a team together to have a game.

Jim's team were convincingly beaten, and it was only after the game that he discovered that he had been playing against the majority the Bolton Wanderers first team.

When World War II broke out, it was Wanderers' team captain Harry Goslin, an inspirational leader both on and off the pitch, who led the charge for the whole team to serve their country.

In 1939, in front of a 23,000 strong crowd at Burnden Park, the then 28-year-old skipper gave a rousing speech before leading his entire team to sign up at the local Territorial Army drill hall.

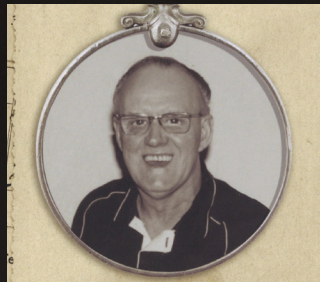

"We are facing a national emergency," he told them. "But this danger can be met, if everybody keeps a cool head, and knows what to do. This is something you can't leave to the other fellow; everybody has a share to do."

The whole team signed up and for the next six years, the players faced some of the heaviest fighting of the war in France, North Africa and Italy while also establishing themselves as a formidable regimental football team.

This extraordinary story is a great part of our history and gives a greater imperative for us to remember and further our support at this time of the year.

For this reason, that is why we have to get behind a number of campaigns supporting our troops and why we need to help support charities such as Help for Heroes.

With £3,200 raised last year around the Reebok Stadium, I would please encourage everybody to get behind the appeal again as we remember the likes of James McDonald and thousands of others who served their country and family.

Bolton Wanderers are saddened to hear of the passing of lifelong supporter Paul Thompson.

Paul has been following Bolton Wanderers since his early teens and went on to introduce the club to his son Shane.

Even though Paul suffered with ill health in recent years culminating in a heart transplant in June 2012, he still managed to attend matches and meet his friends in the East Stand. His last visit to the Reebok Stadium was for Dougie Freedman's Q&A session before the start of the season.

Paul passed away on 29 October 2013 aged 48 and he will be sadly missed by his wife Julie, his family and his friends.

MILLWALL

SO FAR THIS SEASON...

The Lions have endured a topsy-turvy start to the 2013/14 campaign as they look to improve on their 20th place finish last term.

With long term manager Kenny Jackett departing in the summer to join League One Wolves, the Lions were left with the task of finding a new boss for the first time since 2007.

Millwall's search led them north of the border with St Johnstone manager Steve Lomas appointed in July 2013 despite his previous affiliation with West Ham United.

Now a quarter of the way through their fourth consecutive season in the second tier, Millwall have a number of new faces in their ranks including experienced campaigners Shaun Derry, Richard Chaplow and Scott McDonald.

The Londoners have won one game on the road so far this season as they claimed the bragging rights over neighbours Charlton Athletic with a 1-0 victory at The Valley in September.

However a 90th minute equaliser from the penalty spot at Reading in their last away outing will have given the Millwall players reason to believe they can pick up a positive result in only their second ever visit to the Reebok Stadium.

Millwall usually line up in a 4-3-3 formation, with a solid centre-half pairing of Danny Shittu and Paul Robinson often posing as a problem to strikers.

Martyn Woolford and Martyn Waghorn in particular have been crucial to the Lions success in front of goal this season, providing four goals and four assists between them so far.

Wanderers will have to be wary of the Lions' threat down both flanks, alongside keeping tabs on the dangerous Scott McDonald who already has three strikes to his name.

STARMAN

Frontman Steve Morison joined the Lions on loan from Championship rivals Leeds United in the summer and has been the spearhead of Steve Lomas' attack.

The former Stevenage centre forward became Lomas' second signing when he confirmed he would be returning for a second spell in SE16.

The 30-year-old began his career at Northampton Town as a teenager and after 28 senior appearances joined Bishop's Cleeve in 2004.

His goal scoring exploits persuaded Stevenage boss Graham Westley to sign the striker in 2006 before his debut season at The Den in 2009.

The powerful striker became an instant hit with the Millwall support as he played a vital role in helping the club win promotion to the Championship in his debut season, scoring 23 goals.

The following campaign saw Morison finish the Lions' top goalscorer with his formidable form earning him a move to the Premier League, with Carrow Road his next destination after the two club's agreed an undisclosed fee in June 2011.

After an 18 month spell in Norfolk, Morison left the Canaries to join Leeds United as part of a swap deal with Luciano Becchio heading in the opposite direction.

Now back with the Lions on a season long loan from Leeds United, the Welsh international will be looking to help Millwall claim their second away win of the campaign this afternoon.

THE BOSS

Having joined the London outfit during the summer, the initial reaction to Steve Lomas' appointment was a mixed one amongst the Lions faithful given his affiliation with arch rivals West Ham United where he spent seven years as a player.

Following his retirement, the former midfielder became reserve team coach for the Hammers in February 2011 before securing his first major managerial job at St Johnstone.

While in Scotland, Lomas led his team to a top six finish in his first season and repeated that feat a year later, going on to become the only manager in the club's history to secure qualification for a European competition two years in a row.

During his time at McDiarmid Park, Lomas' progress was monitored by a number of English clubs, with St Johnstone's third place finish in the SPL last season merely fuelling speculation that he would move onto pastures new.

The lure of the Championship was to prove to be the turning point for the Irishman, with Millwall securing his signature in June this year as a replacement for Kenny Jackett.

It wasn't exactly smooth sailing for the new Lions boss however, with it taking Lomas seven games to record his first three points for the club against Blackpool.

Victory over the Seasiders appears to have rejuvenated Millwall's season however, with back to back wins against Charlton Athletic and Leeds United following.

Two defeats and three draws since the end of September have steadied the ship somewhat, with Lomas' side currently positioned 18th in the Sky Bet Championship league table – a point above the Whites.

Having avoided relegation by just two points last term though, the club will be hoping for better fortunes on the pitch during the remainder of the current campaign.

THE BIG PICTURE

The Den, Saturday 18th February 2012, 3.04pm Bolton Wanderers booked their place in the FA Cup quarter finals as goals from Ryo Miyaichi and David Ngog secured a 2-0 win over Millwall.

Arsenal loan star Miyaichi, who is pictured here wheeling away in celebration with Sam Ricketts, showed why he is so highly rated at the Emirates when he curled the ball into the far corner with only four minutes gone.

The Japanese forward joined Bolton during the 2012 January transfer window and the teenager quickly latched onto a Ricketts free-kick to put Wanderers in control of the tie.

Talking about the winger Owen Coyle said: "Ryo Miyaichi showed what a talent he is.

"There's other stuff he can learn, but he's brave and tough - he stood up to some of the treatment he got - and he always plays with a smile on his face, which I absolutely love.

"In football terms he is a baby, a kid. I saw when Arsenal brought him in and then watched him on loan at Feyenoord and he always caught my eye.

"I spoke to Arsene a few times about him and did everything I could to get him to the football club."

Bolton Wanderers International Soccer School held its sixth annual World Grand Skills last month which proved to be a huge success.

Over 160 people from all over the globe participated in the event with players travelling to the Reebok from countries such as Australia, USA, Nigeria, Mexico, Columbia and South Africa.

The purpose behind the event was to identify the perfect candidate to be rewarded with a one year scholarship with the International Soccer School.

After an intense programme, with the players put through their paces both physically and mentally over a three day period, South African youngster Tyrone Mondie claimed the prize and will move to Bolton early next year to join up with the ranks.

Everybody that participated in the event did themselves proud with a number of talented players on display, however there could only be one winner.

The award was presented to Tyrone by first team manager Dougie Freedman on Monday 28th October at the awards ceremony held in the Lion of Vienna Suite.

International Soccer School manager Dave Bailey, who played an integral part in the event, told the matchday programme he was delighted with how the event panned out.

"Every year we say to one another that this has been the best World Grand Skills yet but this one has certainly set the bench mark even higher for 2014," admitted Bailey.

"It wasn't only the players' ability on the pitch but from a football club's perspective we showcased what we can offer to the community and how diverse our football and educations are at the Reebok Stadium.

"I would like to thank everyone for the role they have played this year and I would to also thank everybody that travelled from across the globe to show their true spirit of football as an international language at Bolton Wanderers and the World Grand Skills Final 2013."

HUDDERSFIELD TOWN

Huddersfield Town will be the next side welcomed to the Reebok Stadium when they make the trip across the Pennines on Saturday 3rd December.

The Terriers, who are managed by former Barnsley boss Mark Robins, have endured somewhat of an indifferent start to their Championship campaign, and find themselves in mid-table, five points adrift of the Play-Offs.

In 2012, the West Yorkshire side were promoted to the Championship after defeating rivals Sheffield United on penalties in the play-off final at Wembley.

Huddersfield's first season back in the second tier saw them finish in 19th spot, four points above the drop zone despite a managerial change midway through the season.

Looking for an improved finish this term, Robins' men have won four, drawn five and lost five so far this season ahead of their game against Birmingham City this afternoon.

Their record at home is something to be admired, with Gianfranco Zola's Watford the only side who have come away from the John Smiths Stadium with all three points.

However, on the road, it's been a different story for Town as they've only won once all season, with that victory coming against Millwall back in August.

Leading the club's scoring charts by a fair way this campaign is former Everton man James Vaughan. The 25 year-old has netted nine league goals so far and is joint second with Burnley front men Danny Ings and Sam Vokes in the Championship scoring charts.

The former England U21 international fired fourteen goals in 33 appearances for the Terriers last year before making the move permanent in the summer from Norwich City. In addition to the capture of Vaughan, Robins was also busy adding other options to his attacking arsenal. Former Blackburn striker Jon Stead and Northern Ireland international Martin Paterson both signed on free transfers, while exciting right winger Adam Hammill joined from Wolverhampton Wanderers.

Speaking after Huddersfield's 2-1 defeat at Wigan last weekend, Town boss Robins told htafc.com that he was disappointed with the way his side conceded two goals against Owen Coyle's men.

“We gifted them two goals which is the major disappointment. “We should have got something from the game and we have to learn not to give cheap chances away. Players like Nick Powell will take advantage of any opportunity.

“In the end we probably didn't deserve to get the point because of our sloppiness. We need to choose better options because at the moment they are costing us. We can be fairly pleased with our afternoon's work, but still very disappointed.

“At times I thought we were good.

“To come to a place like this, enjoy good possession and create chances is excellent, although at times we were a little bit reticent to go forward. I would have liked to see us attack Wigan more, but we are a working progress.”

MANBEHIND THE MIC

Philip Gittins
Wanderers Player commentator

Unbeaten in six, with ten points from a possible eighteen and on the back of consecutive away wins.

While they could easily have been better still, those statistics from Wanderers last six league encounters demonstrate a marked improvement from the first couple of months of this campaign.

But it's not just the results that have been on an upward curve since the visit of Yeovil at the end of September.

Undefeated since that afternoon, slowly but surely it is clear to see that confidence is growing in the Bolton ranks and the performances are progressing likewise.

Pound for pound, for my money Saturday's victory at Bournemouth's Goldsands Stadium was the Whites most complete 90 minute display to date.

Dogged and resilient in defence, tenacious in the tackle and industrious throughout, Wanderers became the first team to prevent Eddie Howe's men from scoring in league combat.

Going forward Bolton were always a threat with David N'gog and Jermaine Beckford's hard work rewarded as their goals settled the outcome.

For me though it was Chung Yong Lee who really stole the show with his silky skills and willingness to run at the terrified Cherries backline.

Without question the South Korean international is one of the best players in the division a fact demonstrated by his deft pass for David N'gog's opener that simply oozed class. On this form he will be a major influence for the Whites as they look to climb the table.

Having found the key to success on the road, with confidence growing it's now time to replicate that form here at BL6, hopefully starting this afternoon.

Get behind the lads and enjoy the game!
